HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1919.

Small Doses

Swat the Fly.

So Spring has come once more,
With the earth carpeted in green
And flowers blooming everywhere
The mellow warmth of the sun,

The showers ever and anon,
Hold our thoughts to earth,
Each a cause for thankfulness,

For all these a lesson show,
Look at these acrostic lines and You'll learn there's work for you to do

They are about to make a joke of the governor's race.

The Kentuckian is contagious—
we hope you will take it.

The Rainbow Division has left Cob-
lenz for Brest, homeward bound.

They've pulled Cherry again before his boom was ripe.

If you are not a subscriber and
at this paper, why not take the hint?

Owensboro is to establish a country club with $25,000 capital.

An "early peace" is now predicted,
which means early next summer.

Dr. W. A. Evans, the Chicago medical expert, will speak in Evansville April 20th.

Hopkins and Fayette counties have voted the 20 cent road tax within the last few days.

The Huns are still kicking at the length of the Poles required to knock
the Danzig persimmon.

There are 12,700,000 men left in France and women enough for 1-860,000 of them to have two wives.

If the scrappers have worried Mr.
Wilson until he is sick, he can at least come home and bring our army
with him.

Alsation newspapers claim that the retreating Germans stole the keys of the cities. Perhaps they were whiskeys.

Italy demands the return of 170-000 cattle eaten by the hungry Australians, but the days of miracles are past.

The Turkish officials now naively
admit that 800,000 Armenians were massacred, enough to populate three cities as large as Louisville.

The ladies' garment workers' union
ordered two strikes it appears, one
a waist strike and the other a dress strike below the waist.

Andrew Carnegie's daughter, is booked to wed Ensign Roswell Miller
April 22. She is 22 and the only child of the aged philanthropist.

Switzerland, which lives off the tourists, will have no more German
or Australian employes in the hotels.
They are not a drawing card any more.

Some of our readers called attention to the fact that the carriers were very generous and left two papers.
They didn't grasp the real magnitude
of the Kentuckian's renaissance. Like confirmed old bachelors they passed
up "the better half."

An English woman at Lancashire
has had 10 children in six years. She began with twinning and has just given
birth to her second set of triplets.
Her husband was killed in battle near the close of the war. He evidently did not seek exemption.

itary Committee and Warren Pershing, the 9-year-old son of Gen. Pershing, passengers aboard the steamship Leviathan, which sailed
from New York Monday from France.

AIRCRAFT TO FIGHT FIRES
WITH CHEMICAL BOMBS

Washington, April 8.—In connection with the recent announcement
that the forest services had arranged with the war department for captive balloons to aid in defeating forest fires, the department of agriculture today announced that an interesting possibility to be tested is bombing fires. It is believed, experts say,
that bombs charged with certain
chemicals can be used with good results.

Henderson Girls Champions.

The girls basketball team of the Henderson High School won the championship of Western Kentucky
when they defeated the team from the Owensboro High School, in the Henderson "Y" gym, by a score of 8
to 5. Both teams had practically all new "men" on the floor and were evenly matched.

WETS PUT OUT
OF PEMBROKEBOARD OF TRUSTEES REVOKE
LICENSE AND COUNTY JUDGE
DOES LIKEWISE.

NOTICE SERVED YESTERDAY

Presumption Is That They Will Not Attempt To Re-Open Their Saloons Today.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the town of Pembroke Monday
evening, the licenses of the three saloons of Pembroke were cancelled by unanimous vote. Yesterday morning Judge Champlin also revoked the state licenses, and in the afternoon
formal notices were served by the sheriff, notifying them of the action taken.

It is presumed that the saloons
will not attempt to reopen today.

As it is well known, the saloons in Pembroke were the only ones
in the county that re-opened April 1st, in violation of the "gentlemen's agreement" made by all, that no intoxicating liquors would be sold after March 31st.

All of the saloons in the county
promptly closed in accordance with the agreement and there has been much current speculation as to whether this agreement could be made binding and supported by law. The action taken yesterday seems to leave
no doubt as the actual results.

MRS. JOUETT HENRY

Critically Ill and Husband Called Home By Wire.

Col. Jouett Henry was summoned
from Battle Creek, Mich., Sunday morning by the critical illness of his wife who was found unconscious in her bed with a sudden attack. Not 'til nearly night did she regain consciousness, after which she slowly improved and was out of danger when Col.
Henry arrived Monday morning.

GEN. SMUTS
TELLS WHATVirtually an Ultimatum Delivered To The Riotous, Hung.

Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, the Peace Conference Commissioner to Hungary, placed his proposals before
the Hungarian Communist Government Saturday. They included the following: The Hungarian government to withdraw all troops west of a line which Gen. Smuts outlined; that Rumanian troops be ordered not to advance beyond their present positions and that the territory drawn between the line by Gen. Smuts and the Rumanian army be neutral and be occupied by British, French, Italian and, if possible, American troops.

LADIES IN A
RUNAWAYPhaeton Upset and Occupants Escaped With Minor Injuries.

In a run-away Saturday evening,
shortly after six o'clock, Mrs. Jennie Hardison, Mrs. Ben Winfree and daughter, and little Miss Woodson Winfree had a narrow escape from serious injury, and were bruised and cut in several places.

They were driving Judge Winfree's
horse and phaeton on South Main street when the horse began to run.
Passing up Main street the run-
away turned at 18th and ran down Virginia towards town. At the corner of 14th and Virginia the phaeton was overturned and the occupants thrown
out. Mrs. Winfree held the baby so as to shield it in falling, and it received only one slight cut, while she was badly bruised in several places.
Mrs. Hardison and Woodson Win-
free each received a severe shock
in falling, but beyond a few cuts and
bruises no serious results are feared.

The phaeton was only slightly
damaged and the horse suffered no injury.

Safe On This Side

J. C. Fuqua, another Hopkinsville boy, has arrived from overseas. His sister, Mrs. Feland Clark, was advised to that effect Monday.

Hon. Edward G. Hill, of Louisville,
spoke last night at the Christian church and gave a splendid account
of the needs and the sufferings of the Jews in the far East.

New Trial Granted

Judge Bush on Saturday, in the closing orders of the term of circuit court, granted a new trial to the Kentucky Public Service Co., against whom a verdict of $10,000 was returned for the death of Joe Morris who was killed by a live wire while at work for the company. His administrator Ennis Morris sued for $25-000.

YOUNG MAN
IS DROWNEDIn Mysterious Way Sunday Morning
In Casey Creek, Near Lafayette.

A young man named Russell Jenkins, who lived near Lafayette, was drowned in Casey's Creek Sunday morning. He and another young man named Cunningham had gone to the Creek Saturday night to fish and they had started home in the early hours
of Sunday morning. While Cunningham was getting the horse and buggy Jenkins was left on the bank and had disappeared when his companion returned. Jenkins was subject to attacks of epilepsy and may have been seized with one of these. The body
was recovered from the stream close
to where he fell in.

His mother, Mrs. Lizzie Jenkins,
and two sisters and a brother, survive him. He was unmarried and 26 years of age. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Purely Personal

Mrs. L. L. Leavell, left yesterday for Greenville, Miss., to visit their brother, Mr. Gano Henry. Col. Henry will spend a week in fishing and will be amply supplied with bait of all kinds.
He will also inspect the famous mint
beds of that vicinity.

Mrs. Chas. E. Graves, after a visit
to her mother, Mrs. M. H. Nelson,
has returned to St. Louis.

Miss Anabel Huddleston, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., has returned home
after a visit to Mrs. C. O. Wright.

Mrs. Robert Frazer, of Greenville,
has returned home after visiting Mr.
and Mrs. J. B. Wood.

ed Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, a day
or two ago.

engaged in hospital war work in Washington, returned Monday and is receiving a cordial welcome from her host of friends. She has been in the service for a year or more. She is

final discharge from the service.

GRANGE SALE'S
FINE PROSPECTSBIDS FAIR TO BE THE BEST
STOCK OFFERING FOR MANY YEARS.

OUTSIDERS MAY SELL CATTLE

Record Crowd of Buyers Expected
to Be Present—Col. Iglehart Auctioneer.

The annual sale of the Church Hill
Grange will be held on Friday, April 11th. By having the sale at this early season of the year, it is possible
for winter fed cattle to be offered.

This year about 500 head of fine
cattle will be offered, approximately one-half of which will be excellent
winter fed animals from 800 to 1400
pounds in weight. Most of the cattle will be offered by members of the Grange, although any others have the privilege of selling by paying a slightly increased fee.

There is sure to be a large number
of cattle buyers on hand and prices
will undoubtedly soar.

This annual event always attracts
a large number of visitors from various parts of the county and state,
and one feature will be the usual basket dinners, contributed by the ladies of the community.

Col. Iglehart and son will be the auctioneers.

DR. ANDERSON HONORED.

Rev. A. S. Anderson, the pastor of the Westminster Church, was given a banquet by the men of his church
Friday night, which was a delicious feast prepared by the ladies of the church. A program of after-dinner speeches followed the banquet.
Judge W. T. Fowler acting as toastmaster in his usual witty and graceful style. Several happy talks were made.

Grand Fleet Maneuvers Were Result
of British-American Staff Conferences

New York, April 8.—The convoy
system, which many men had termed impracticable, overcame the German submarine menace and figured tremendously in the winning of the war,
Rear Admiral William S. Simms commander in chief of the American naval forces in European waters, declared on his arrival here aboard the British liner Mauretania.

Depth charges and listening devices he said, contributed materially to success in maintaining practically unbroken trans-Atlantic "bridge" of transport and supply ships essential to the allied victory as did the "magnificent work" of the merchant sea-
men who took their cargoes across,
convoy or no convoy but it was the convoying scheme, worked out in a fine detail by the combined fleets of the associated powers, the officer asserted, which made possible the transportation and supplying of the great American force whose appearance in battle with the allies turned the tide
against the German invaders on the western front.

Germany was winning the war, the
rear admiral stated, when he arrived
in England the day after the United States became a belligerent. Teuton
interference with the allied shipping
he added, was a serious problem, solved
only when conferences of the British, American and allied commands worked out and put into practice the system of protecting vital
ships, which prevailed until the cessation of hostilities.

Only 90 American soldiers died of typhoid fever in France.

LLOYD GEORGE
IS NOW SICKEVERYBODY GETTING TIRED OF
DELAYS—WILSON WANTS
SPEEDY ACTION

PRINCIPLES ARE AT STAKE

Tension Leads to Many Plausible
Report of Decisive Action
Americans Will Take.

Paris, April 8.—The commission on the league of nations held a plenary
session last night, and it is expected that the members voted on the amendments of the Monroe Doctrine and racial discrimination offered by the American delegates and Japanese,
respectively.

The peace conference has apparently reached the turning point between definite and speedy results and further prolonged delay. The indications were toward action, but new doubts began to appear whether the desired results could be accomplished within a fortnight, as Premier Lloyd George and Col. White have predicted.

The council of four hours was to have met at 11 o'clock at the White House, where the president is still confined to bed, but able to confer
with his colleagues in emergencies.
It developed, however, that Premier Lloyd George has been affected in a similar manner as the president,
which has confined him also to his
bed. A morning session of the council was therefore impossible.

Meet At Lloyd George's.

It has been determined to have the council meet at Lloyd George's residence, so as to be near him, and have
the session begin at 3:30 o'clock,
with Premier Clemenceau, Premier Orlando, Col. House and financial experts present. Reparations was again the chief issue, and although
settled in the main principle, a number of essential details still remain
open.

One of the American experts summed up the situation as he entered
the meeting saying:

"The chances are favorable to an agreement, but we have not agreed
yet."

Returned Soldier Dined.

A delightful supper was given last Saturday night by Mrs. Mary Harris
and son, Owen, in honor of her grand son, Willie Keel, who has recently received an honorable discharge from the army. Several friends and relatives were present.

In Honor Of Visitors.

The young people attended a delightful dance at the Elk's Club Monday evening, given in honor of Miss Margaret Love and Miss Nell Walker
of Bowling Green, who have been visiting Mrs. John Jackson on Walnut Street.

gie Stark, both of the county, have

Courthouse Saturday by Judge
Champlin.

O'Neal-Hubbard.

bard, daughter of Mrs. Pope Miller,
of Pembroke, who were married in Nashville last week, returned home
yesterday from a brief wedding trip
and are at home on the groom's farm near Oak Grove. Mr. O'Neal is one of the county's progressive farmers
and his wife is a charming young woman.

The Sunday School Rally was a success Sunday, establishing a new record in the city.

Of the total of 3,598, the Baptists
led both of the white and colored churches with 1443. The Christian church led as a single church and the Methodist church came a close second. The Baptist church recently divided, had 737 at the First and 227
at the Second, a total of 964.

The various churches reported as follows:

WHITE
Christian	877
Methodist	865
First Baptist	737
Second Baptist	227
Westminster Presbyterian	186
Cumberland Presbyterian	179
Church of Christ	120
Episcopal	81
First Presbyterian	66
Universalist	21
Total	3,239

COLORED
Virginia St. Baptis.	224
Freeman Chapel, Methodist	120
Durrett Ave. Baptist	85
Gainesville Baptist	40
Little Mission Methodist	36
First St. Baptist	30
Total	3,598

R. C. Ware, superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday School, was chairman of the committee from all of the churches that had charge of
and directed the campaign. Mr.
Ware strove to reach 5,000, but fell short of that mark. Many of those who were brought out, it is confidently believed, will become regular attendants.

SAVING METHODS IN ITALY

Installment Plan Adopted To Encourage General Participation
In War Loans.

The humble citizen of Italy insists upon doing his part to help his country to carry her war and postwar financial burdens. There are no
Thrift Stamps and War Savings
Stamps in Italy, and there are hundreds of thousands of patriotic Italians who never have more than a dollar or two at a time to offer their government.

But in Italy, just as in all other belligerent nations, a way has been provided to take advantage of the invaluable assistance which the smallest investor can give the nation both
in war and in peace. The Italian government has arranged to sell war
bonds through the banks on the club
plan. A workman or small farmer
goes to a bank and makes a small deposit and asks that a 100 lire ($20)
war bond be purchased for him. He then completes the payment for his bond at the rate of 7 lire ($1.40)
per month. He may secure a 500
lire bond by monthly payments of 35 lire ($7.00).

Though they have different methods of collecting the contributions
of that large proportion of their citizens who are unable to accumulate $100 or even $20 at one time, it will be found that every one of the belligerent nations has found it absolutely essential to make some arrangement to secure the support of the small investor. Great Britain and the United States are meeting the situation by the sale of small denominational government securities in the form of war savings stamps or securities. France, Italy and others
accomplish the same result by issuing a small denomination bond payable on some sort of an installment plan.

England's Peace Expenditure.
Great Britain in seven weeks after the Armistice had a total of over 370 million pounds sterling, where-
as the expenditures of seven weeks
before the Armistice, at a time when hostilities were at their height, was just 350 million. This indicates that other great nations, as well as the United States, are finding that they will require more funds to get thru
the year following the great war
than they did to carry on the war a year. This also explains the necessity for the continu-
ment bonds
Stamps.

The editor of the Kentuckian did not put any faith in the compromise with the wets last fall, because it was not put into any binding form and there was no occasion for a surrender when victory was assured. Now comes the Owensboro Messenger to jeer at us for way it has turned out: "The Christian county prohibitionists last year had everything ready for a local option election with admitted victory in the air, but entered into a 'gentlemen's agreement' with the keepers of a lot of country town doggeries that all liquor business in that county should cease April 1, and called the election off. Now the gentlemanly keepers of the aforesaid doggeries at Pembroke have brazenly violated the agreement and the silly prohibitionists are getting what was coming to them."

A Washington special quotes Secretary Baker as saying that President Wilson favors the complete independence of the Philippines. The Filipino people evidently do not know when they are well off. If they undertake to set up for business for themselves they will last about as long as a snowflake in boiling water. Japan is casting longing eyes at the Philippines even under our protection and the nation that is constantly encroaching on the oriental mainland and seizing islands wherever they are found would make short work of conquering the Philippines.

Surrendered German submarines now being brought to the United States by American navy crews will be exhibited at ports on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts, the Great Lakes and Chesapeake bay and on the Mississippi and Hudson rivers. The five submarines will arrive late this month while the Victory Loan campaign is in progress.

The Kentuckian has seen no reason to alter its previously expressed opinion that the Democrats should be nominate a man for Governor who can be elected. With the Third District split into three throat-cutting factions it does not take a prophet to tell where such a man should be looked for.

Congressman Nick Longworth, Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, says of the new Republican floor leader, Mondell, Wyoming, that he is an "orator and a parliamentarian" but "his war record is dubious to say the least." The Republicans are preparing to drive all the patriots into the Democratic party.

Official casualties are still being given out. The last one had 311 names, 4 killed in action, one died of wounds, 17 from accidents, 61 from disease, 222 were wounded and 6 missing in action. The total has reached 200,411. The total deaths are 74,465 in army and marine corps, on the other side of the ocean.

Elias Howe, born 100 years ago July 9, invented the sewing machine and his claims were laughed to scorn and he went to England to get backing in his poverty. His machine was stolen during his absence and after a long legal battle the courts gave him justice in 1854 and he died a millionaire in 1876.

Before the war monarchies and republics were about equal. Now there are twenty-nine republics and twenty-one monarchies counting Germany, Austria and Russia as one republic each. Several new republics are in course of formation.

Mrs. Vernon Castle, famous dancer and widow of Capt. Vernon Castle, who was killed in an airplane accident, denies that she is engaged to anyone. A rumor was circulated that she was about to marry Capt. R. F. Treacy.

The probable announcement of two other candidates, one a soldier and the other a shrewd politician, it is said is about to cause the retirement of Dr. H. H. Cherry as a gubernatorial candidate.

Tommy Ashbaugh, a boy only 11 years old, hanged himself to a wire tied to a rafter, when his mother sent him to the barn to feed a horse at Owensboro.

OUR WAR CORRESPONDENT

LIEUT. HERSCHEL A. LONG

Lieut. Herschel A. Long has acquired a proprietary interest in the Kentuckian and upon his return from abroad will be actively in charge of one department of the paper.

Mr. Long is well known, not only in this, his native city, but in other parts of the state as well. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Long and was born in this city. He graduated from the city High School in the class of 1906 in a class of 13 and a high average he attained gave him choice of scholarships offered by several colleges to high school graduates. Choosing Center University at Danville, Ky., whose classes for 50 years have included many of Kentucky's most notable men, he entered that institution in the fall of 1906 where he early distinguished himself for scholarship and became a leader in athletics. He made the highest record in athletics, which entitled him to the honor of being "King of the Carnival" given by his class on the campus, the great society event of the University.

In the spring of 1908 he won the loving cup prize for Center the second year in succession, thus securing its complete ownership.

In the spring of 1909 he won in Louisville, Ky., at a large military encampment offering medals in all forms of athletics to university boys, two gold medals and two silver medals.

In January, 1910 he graduated from Center and before securing his diploma was elected to the faculty of the new Hopkinsville High School, to teach science and English. He aided in the equipment of the laboratory and assisted Geoffrey Morgan, the first farm demonstrator of Christian county, in analyzing and similar work.

In the summer of 1912, he resigned his school work to take up journalism and became city editor of the Daily Democrat, which position he held until the paper was sold.

Later he accepted a position with the Forbes Manufacturing Company and started in to acquaint himself with the work of that big enterprise from time-keeper up to the head of the office force, which position he held until May 1, 1916.

He enlisted in the National Guard of Kentucky April 25th, 1912 and continued in service three years.

In April, 1917, as soon as war was declared, he hastened to Louisville and was the 43rd man to volunteer in the officers' training school. He went to the first training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and on Aug. 15 was commissioned second lieutenant in the quartermaster's corps, and sent to Camp Taylor, Louisville. On Oct. 23, 1917, he was sent back to Fort Benjamin Harrison as Post Quartermaster, and on March 18, 1918, was promoted to First Lieutenant.

He was ordered overseas in September and arrived in France Oct. 8, 1918, and went direct to Argonne forest front, where he served as assistant post quartermaster along a 40-mile fighting line until November 11, when hostilities ceased. Since that time as an inspecting officer he has been sent to most of the large cities of France and Germany, his last letter being from Berlin. At present he is visiting the prison camps of Germany, where Russian prisoners are still confined.

Lieut. Long has written many interesting letters and his experiences in Europe will qualify him to aid greatly in making the Kentuckian's columns interesting in the future.

The excellent picture at the head of this column will introduce him to those of our readers to whom he may be a stranger.

Gaston B. Means, the Chicago man acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, has sued the Northern Trust Company for $1,000,000 for prosecuting him.

The Kentuckian has received many favorable comments on its first issue Saturday, and its subscription list is rapidly growing.

A proletarian, a word now often used, really means "the indigent class of people." As used by the Socialists it is intended to mean a government of and by the common people.

Uncle Sam lost $36,633,000 on railroads in February, about the same as in January. This is at the rate of more than four hundred millions annually.

King Baggot, the movie star, has returned to the stage and will be in Evansville this week.

America's Immortals

Most striking instances of gallantry for which the Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded

On the war department's records there is a roll of "America's Immortals." It is the roll of officers and men to whom there has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross in recognition of acts of unusual gallantry in action. Behind each of these awards is a story of surpassing bravery that deserves the widest publicity, but pages of newspaper space would be required to print them all. Officers attached to General Pershing's staff have selected from the hundreds of official reports a number that typify most strikingly the gallantry and spirit of self-sacrifice that made America's army invincible. Here are a few of them:

THOMAS O. NEIBOUR,

Private, Company M, 167th Infantry.

Private Neibour, whose home is at Sugar City, Idaho, was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action near Landres-et-St. Georges, France, October 16, 1918. On the afternoon of October 16, when the Cote de Chatellen had just been gained after bitter fighting, and the summit of that strong bulwark in the kriegsblinde Stellung was being organized, Private Neibour was sent on patrol with his automatic rifle squad to enfilade enemy machine gun nests. As Private Neibour gained the ridge he set up his automatic rifle and was directly thereafter wounded in both legs by fire from a hostile machine gun on his flank. The advance wave of the enemy troops counter-attacking had about gained the ridge and although practically cut off and surrounded, the remainder of his detachment being killed or wounded, this gallant soldier kept his automatic rifle in operation to such effect that by his own efforts and by fire from the skirmish line of his company at least 100 yards in his rear, the attack was checked. The enemy wave being halted and lying prone, four of the enemy attacked Private Neibour at close quarters. These he killed. He then moved along among the enemy lying on the ground about him, in the midst of the fire from his own lines, and by his coolness and gallantry captured eleven prisoners at the point of his pistol and, although painfully wounded, brought them back to our lines. The counter-attack in full force was arrested, to a large extent, by the single efforts of this soldier, whose heroic exploits took place against the skyline in full view of his entire battalion.

EDWARD C. ALLWORTH,

Captain, 60th Infantry.

Capt. Allworth won the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in action at Clerly-le-Petit, France, November 5, 1918. While his company was crossing the Meuse river and canal at a bridgehead opposite Clerly-le-Petit, the bridge over the canal was destroyed by shell fire and Capt. Allworth's command became separated, part of it being on the east bank of the canal and the remainder on the west bank. Seeing his advance units making slow headway up the steep slope ahead, this officer mounted the canal bank and called for his men to follow. Plunging in he swam across the canal under fire from the enemy, followed by his men. Inspiring his men by his example of gallantry, he led them up the slope, joining the hard-pressed platoons in front. By his personal leadership he forced the enemy back for more than a kilometer, overcoming machine gun nests and capturing a hundred prisoners, whose number exceeded that of the men in his command. The exceptional courage and leadership displayed by Capt. Allworth made possible the re-establishment of a bridgehead over the canal and the successful advance of other troops. Capt. Allworth's home is at Crawford, Washington.

LOUIS CUKELA,

Lieutenant, 5th Regiment, U. S. M. C.

Lieutenant Cukela was decorated for conspicuous gallantry near Villers-Cotterets, France, July 18, 1918. When his company, advancing through a wood, met with strong resistance from an enemy strong point Lieutenant Cukela, then a sergeant, crawled out from the flank and made his way toward the German line in the face of heavy fire, disregarding the warnings of his comrades. He succeeded in getting behind the enemy position. Rushing a machine gun emplacement, he killed the crew with his bayonet. With German hand grenades he then bombed out the remaining portion of the strong point. His home is in Minneapolis, Minn.

SYDNEY G. GUMPERTZ,

First Sergeant, Company E, 132nd Infantry.

Sergt. Gumpertz was decorated for gallantry beyond the call of duty in action in the Bois de Forges, France, September 26, 1918. When the advanced elements of the 132nd Infantry, which he was in command and started through a heavy barrage toward the machine gun nest. His two companions soon became casualties from bursting shells, but Sergt. Gumpertz continued on alone in the face of direct fire from the machine gun, jumped into the nest and silenced the gun, capturing nine of the crew. Sergt. Gumpertz' home is at 701 West 178th street, New York city.

CHARLES F. HOFFMAN,

Gunnery Sergeant, 49th Company, 5th Regiment, U. S. M. C.

Sergt. Hoffman received the Distinguished Service Cross for an act of conspicuous gallantry in action with the enemy near Chateau-Thierry, France, June 8, 1918. Immediately after the company in which Sergt. Hoffman belonged had reached its objective on Hill 142, several counter-attacks were launched against the line before the new position had been consolidated. Sergt. Hoffman was attempting to organize a position on the north slope of the hill when he saw twelve of the enemy, armed with five light machine guns, crawling toward his group. Giving the alarm, he rushed at the hostile detachment, bayoneted the two leaders, and forced the others to flee, abandoning their guns. His quick initiative and courage routed the enemy from a position from which they could have swept the hill with machine gun fire and forced the withdrawal of our forces. His home is in Brooklyn, N. Y.

THEODORE PETERSEN,

Sergeant, Med. Det. 151st Field Artillery.

Sergeant Petersen (deceased) was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action at Peronne, France, March 5, 1918. Mortally wounded during an enemy bombardment, Sergeant Petersen, though himself too weak to minister to other wounded soldiers, directed his associates in treating the wounded and refused to receive assistance himself until all the others were cared for. When gas shells began to fall in the vicinity he directed the men in adjusting their masks and was the first to test for gas. He continued to supervise the treatment of the wounded, despite the fact that he was suffering great pain, until the arrival of the surgeon, who sent him to the rear. He died on reaching the hospital. His mother, Mrs. N. J. Petersen, lives at 89 Central avenue, Oshkosh, Wis.

JAMES D. HERIOT,

Corporal, Company I, 118th Infantry.

Corp. Heriot, who lived near Providence, S. C., was decorated for conspicuous bravery, resulting in his death, at Vaux-Andigny, France, October 12, 1918.

Corp. Heriot, with four other soldiers, organized a combat group, and attacked an enemy machine gun nest which had been inflicting heavy casualties on his company. In the advance two of his men were killed, and because of heavy fire from all sides, the remaining two sought shelter. Unmindful of the hazard attached to his mission, Corp. Heriot with fixed bayonet, alone charged the machine gun, making his way through the fire for a distance of thirty yards, and forcing the enemy to surrender. During this exploit he received several wounds in the arm, and later in the same day, while charging another nest, he was killed.

DONALD M. CALL,

Second Lieutenant, Company B, Tank Corps.

Lieut. Call was decorated for conspicuous bravery in action near Varennes, France, September 26, 1918. During an operation against enemy machine gun nests west of Varennes, Lieut. Call, then corporal, was in a tank with an officer, when half of the turret was knocked off by a direct artillery hit. Choked by gas from the high-explosive shell, he left the tank and took cover in a shell hole thirty yards away. Seeing that the officer did not follow, and thinking that he might be alive, Corp. Call returned to the tank under intense machine gun and shell fire and carried the officer over a mile under machine gun and sniper fire to safety. Lieut. Call's home is at Larchmont Manor, N. Y.

CHARLES DISALVO,

Private, Company B, 354th Infantry.

Private Disalvo (deceased) was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action near Remonville, France, November 1, 1918. When the combat group, of which he was a member, had been halted by enemy machine guns, Private Disalvo alone charged forward. Attacking the nest, he killed one gunner and forced the rest to surrender. His act enabled the group to continue their advance. During the charge on the nest he was so seriously wounded that he died on the field. His widow lives at 3305 Arlington avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

JOHN J. KELLY,

Private 78th Company, 6th Regiment, U. S. M. C.

Private Kelly was decorated for gallantry in action at Blanc Mont Ridge, France, October 3, 1918. Private Kelly ran through our own barrage 100 yards in advance of the front line and attacked an enemy machine gun nest, killing the gunner with a grenade, shooting another member of the crew with his pistol and returned through the barrage with eight prisoners. Private Kelly's home is at 6149 Kimbark avenue, Chicago, Ill.

As Girl Bemoaned, Men Are So Unreasonable!

Act Which Saved the Firm Large Sum of Money Brought Forth Stern Condemnation Rather Than Thankfulness.

There was an unhappy pucker in the forehead of the girl in the leatherette coat as she said, "Men are certainly the most unreasonable beings!" "Marvelous discovery," commented the one in the brown fur as she conveyed the contents of her tray to the not overly dainty cafeteria table. "I see I might as well listen, so get it off your mind."

"You remember," said the leatherette one, "I told you Saturday about having so much money to take care of at the office at closing time? Well, Saturday night robbers broke into the office safe. The night watchman heard them, but while he was flourishing his pistol at them and ordering them to 'hands up' they beat him up and got away."

"With all that money?" moaned the now interested Miss Brown Fur. "Wait!" commanded Leatherette. "The watchman called up the manager of our branch and the police. Then Mr. Gilles, the manager, sent for me the first thing Sunday morning. He asked me how much money I had taken in Saturday after banking hours. I told him a little over $2,000. He turned sort of creamy looking. They were all standing there—policemen, detectives, the bandaged watchman and my boss—looking at that empty money drawer in the safe as though they were waiting for it to 'Speak up, like, an' 'spress yourself.'"

"Did you want that money now, Mr. Gilles?" I asked, not appreciating all the gloom of the situation.

"Want it?" he roared, and they all looked at me with that expression which says, "The poor girl has gone dippy."

"Then I had to explain that I had locked the safe Saturday night before I had taken care of the money in the till. I was in a hurry 'cause Clyde was waiting to meet me at closing time and so I just slipped all that money into an envelope and stuck it in the filing cabinet."

"So there on Sunday morning I took the money out of the envelope and handed it over to Mr. Gilles. He counted it and they all feasted their eyes on it as a father gazes upon a long-lost son."

"Haven't you omitted the point as to man's unreasonableness?"

"No. I am just coming to that," responded Leatherette. "This morning Mr. Gilles called me into his office and told me that if I could not be more careful with the firm's money he would feel obliged to discharge me."

Early Trench Journals.

There is a very long list of these early trench journals, the majority of which have been collected by Mr. Charles de la Ronciere, who has deposited them at the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris for the benefit of the future historians of the war. They include Le Petit Echo du Eighteenth Regiment, d'infanterie territoriale, which was very artistically edited by Corporal Huhuet and autographed in many colors; L'Echo des Tranchées, the editor of which was the famous short story writer, Paul Reboux, and which contained articles and poems by such writers as Poincaré and Rostand; Theodore Botrel and Henri de Regnier; and the Echo du Ravin, the organ of the Forty-first chasseurs, which boasted of a private wire connecting the office with abroad—the barbed wire reaching right up to the trenches of the Boches.

Wild Duck Consumes Much Rice.

On his way down from Canada or Alaska to the Gulf, the wild duck makes a stop-over of 90 days in the California rice fields, and during his stay consumes a large part of the rice crop, a cupful of rice at a meal. This, considering that the wild duck appears in numbers of perhaps a million or so, makes the situation much more serious than it sounds.

Eternal Protest Against Sameness of Things.

Act of Man Who Died Rather Than Submit to the Wearisome Commonplaceness of Life Causes Interesting Comment.

A newspaper item reports the suicide of a man who declared that he was tired of everlastingly lacing his shoes and then unlacing them again. Petty enough the act appears in the grist of the day's news, but the report of it (be it fact or fiction) lingers in the mind till against a larger background of time it begins to take on significance, even to find a place beside immortal acts of legend and familiar attitudes of art. Here was a man who found the master knot of his fate in his shoe lacing. Was he a fool or a hero? Alexander has fame for an act which as a symbol might have much the same significance, a resolute blow of the sword through the Gordian knot, which disposes of the difficulty without solving the problem. For himself the suicide had dismissed routine with a suave gesture and with superb finality, but he leaves mankind in the attitude of Laocoon, agonizingly entangled in shoe lacing, the serpent routine, huge, insensate, unrelenting. In its grip man writhes forever, hopeless of escape. To this group the suicide waves a jaunty farewell—"The best of luck to you," he says. "I'm out of it, anyway."

Whatever our scorn for him, we must admit that he voices unmistakably the eternal human protest against routine; that it is really only in the suavity of his gesture and the supreme finality of the rejection that he goes beyond the rest of us. The feeling that commanded his act is nearly the most universal of human impulses. We all rebel bitterly in the days when heaven lies about us, and the later shades of the prison house are nothing more than the creeping paralysis of hopeless submission. Only those of us who have trodden the mill so long that we are almost irremediably subdued to what we work in prefer, in such times as these when we have the choice, counters and ledgers to trenches and barbed wire. The lad who with a whoop of joy flings behind him his columns of figures or vaults the counter in his eagerness to rush into poison gas and machine-gun fire, though his gesture is one of bravery rather than suavity, is that of Alan Breck, rather than of Beau Brummel, makes his rejection of routine no whit less final than does the hero of the newspaper item. And he is not the one in a million who makes the National army.—Robert P. Utter in Harper's Magazine.

Geological Survey a War-Map Printer.

The contribution to the war of the map engraving and printing plant of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, has not been limited to the reproduction of the surveys executed by the topographic engineers, but has included the reprinting of hydrographic and British admiralty charts in large numbers for the navy department and of various military maps of French and Belgian areas for the war department. Motor-truck route maps and airplane route maps have also been compiled and printed for the use of the army, as well as special charts and maps for use at instruction camps. An interesting use of this specially equipped printing plant has been the regular issue of camouflage charts for the navy. The regular geologic map work has given place during the period of the war to these exigency calls for color printing for military purposes.

When the bond sale began recently their teacher taught them the song: For your boy and my boy, and all the boys out there, Let's get together for the U. S. A. and do our share.

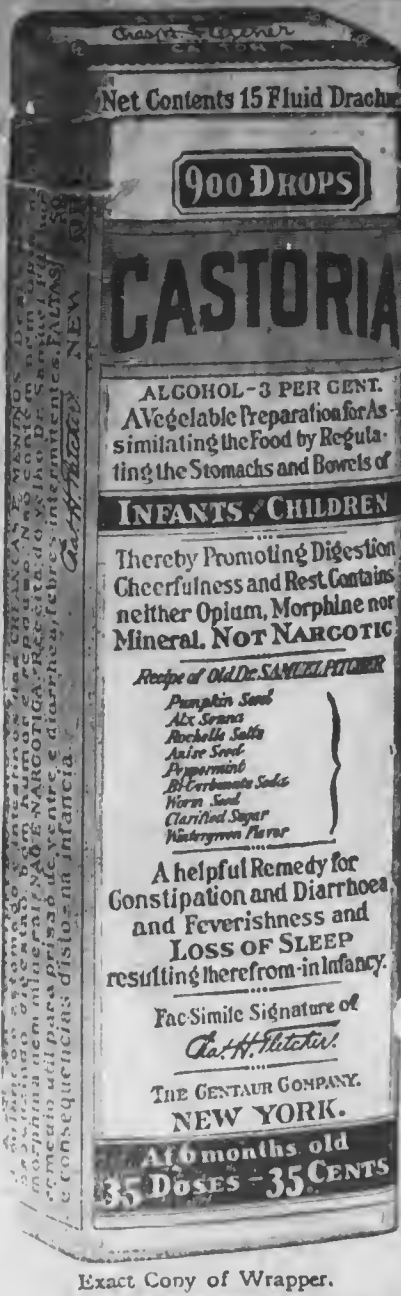

She noticed that Clinton and Fred did not sing with enthusiasm and wondered. But at noon she learned the reason. Clinton brought her a crumpled five-dollar bill. "It's for a bond for Fred and me," he explained. "It will keep us humping to pay it out, but we're goin' to do it so we can sing that bond song and not feel like slackers, when we're doing it.—Indianapolis News.

"Industrious Youth."

An industrious youngster has been busy, at Palo Alto, Cal., during the past season with a war garden. It is about 70 feet square. On that patch of ground, he planted a variety of garden truck, cared for it all summer long and did the selling. He realized something like $100, which he invested in Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps. Besides this he stored away in the cellar a fair quantity of squash and other vegetables for winter use. The youngster is Rev. E. J. Gillespie, retired, eighty-three years old.

He Changed the Subject.

"Miss Wombat, do you think two can live as cheaply as one?" "I have never given the matter any thought. When I get married I expect to make the money 25."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BACKING UP WAR RISK

This is One of Our Solemn Obligations Reckoned On in the Victory Loan.

When America went to war she not only raised the pay of her fighting men, the man in the ranks from $15 to $30 a month but she made it possible for him to insure his life and his ability to support himself and his family. The amount of this war insurance written ran into hundreds of millions. The man that lived in a muddy trench knew that no matter what happened to him that his dependents would be cared for with his insurance money. He paid his premium, smaller than these payments were, any insurance were ever asked by a private individual.

Back of this insurance policy, that the soldier man, and the sailor boy sent home to his folks stood the resources of the whole country. Every American dollar was back of that policy. The Liberty Loans that were subscribed were backing the policies. The taxation schemes of the nation were pledged to make them good.

The American casualties ran into the thousands. Almost $70,000 Americans gave their lives in the struggle. The dependents of these men must receive and are receiving the sums solemnly pledged them by the nation. The men who have been disabled for life, and there are many of them, must receive their payments. The funds of the United States must meet these and other extraordinary expenses. That is why the United States is floating a Fifth Liberty Loan. The war risk losses must be met along with a thousand other expenses of the Government that have grown out of the war.

When war ends it does not stop short off. The expenses of our war drag along after the last gun has been fired. The war risk insurance will be an example of this. In other wars the pension rolls have remained for generations as a reminder. This war was started on a different basis so far as the wounded, injured and concerned.

made arrangements from the beginning to look after them in issuing insurance. Those arrangements must be carried out even though it should require more and more bond issues to meet this and other of our solemn obligations.

WOULD YOU DESIRE TO SEE WORLD BOLSHEVIZED?

Whole Nation On Spree in New Found Privileges Must Be Straightened Out.

The order of the day in Europe seems to be disorder. Things are no better in Russia. In Poland the Poles are fighting Russians, standing off the Bolsheviks, battling with the Germans, facing with the Jugo-Slavs, and generally taking a smash at all comers.

In the Balkan and Adriatic areas there has been desultory fighting in a score of places between nearly as many nationalities.

Germany is far from quiet. When the dynasties and old governments of old Europe suddenly crumbled they seemed to have carried common sense and sanity down with them in the crash. Freedom went to the heads of the oppressed like new wine. Whole nations went on sprees of new found privileges.

This cannot be permitted to continue unless the whole world wants to find itself Bolshhevized. Two-thirds of Europe is trying to get itself into a hopeless muddle that might take centuries to eradicate. One of these days order must come out of chaos, or chaos will reign for generations.

Just now the Allies are disposed to let the mad nations riot along. But this cannot last always. The rioting nations will be given a chance to get down to business and clear things up and make new governments. No one wants to dictate to them. That would be folly, but personal and national safety must be assured.

While the peace matters are still being settled, it is not likely that any action can be taken. But one of these days, if order has not been restored something will have to be done. What it will be no man can say now, but it is well to be ready for it. That is one of the possibilities of the Fifth Loan, the Victory Liberty Loan. There will be American soldiers in Europe in the meanwhile. There may be a million or more there when the peace treaty receives its signature. These men are a sort of American insurance that American interests will not be trifled with. But they must be fed, maintained, and looked after and a million men cost something to maintain. Put them at the end of a 3,000 mile line of communications and they will cost even more. This is expensive. It will cost millions daily, but as has been said soon many times, war does not end when the last shot is fired. It goes on indefinitely. Recall these things when you sign your local application.

He Takes the Blue One.

Of course you've heard about the hardworked guy whose job was to pick the blossoms off the family century plant; the bloke who sticks the spots on double-blank dominoes and the culprit whose life work is making the bird seed for cuckoo clocks, but the champion, double-bowknotted, floatin' axled and vulcanized war leaver is the cuss who said he was doing war work by picking up the stitches his wife dropped when she knitted.—Indianapolis Star.

CHERRY QUILTS GOV. RACE

ISSUES A CARD ATTRIBUTING
WITHDRAWAL TO THE STATE
OF HIS HEALTH

DENHARDT EXPECTS TO ENTER

With the Backing of the Percy Haley Faction of Democratic Party.

Louisville, Ky., April 8.—H. H. Cherry, of Bowling Green, is out of the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor and now voters are wondering whether he was a victim of a trade.

Mr. Cherry's physician has ordered him to shun all excitement and refrain from worry for several months. His condition, it is understood, is largely due to overwork and worry brought about through his candidacy.

Denhardt Will Run.

Col. H. H. Denhardt, of Bowling Green, is expected to enter.

Percy Haley is counted on strong to support Col. Denhardt, provided the latter gets into the race. He has just returned from the East, and it may have been that Col Denhardt was waiting to confer with him.

The statement of Mr. Cherry withdrawing from the race for Governor follows:

Mr. Cherry's Statement.

"To the Democratic voters of Kentucky: My state of health forces me to withdraw from the Governor's race. I am not in a physical condition to go another inch further. I do not think it is possible for me to go thru the strenuous campaign before the primary, and if nominated after the primary without serious results. I feel sure that my withdrawal from active public life for a few months is necessary, and by doing it at once I shall experience a new vitality and have many more years of active service.

"At the time of entering the race I thought I would be able to make a thorough campaign, although I knew my vitality was below normal, caused by many years of hard work without a vacation, and by fourteen months of extra and extraordinary labor which I did as State Chairman of the Publicity and Speakers' Bureau of the Kentucky and National Councils of Defense.

"The outlook for my nomination is more than satisfactory, and it is the deepest regret of my life that circumstances over which I have no control force me to take this step.

"I entered this race inspired alone by an earnest desire to crystallize into tangible results my ideas along these lines, among other things, or purity in politics, the uplift of the State, reformation of abuses, a better educational system, retrenchment of public expenses and a higher political standard of citizenship, which in turn would elevate the Commonwealth in all the branches of its activities.

"But I find my strength unequal to the task, a bitter disappointment to myself as well as to my friends. If I had had the strength I should have gone down in defeat with my ideals unchanged or to victory with my ideals triumphant.

"I am deeply grateful to the many friends throughout the entire state for their interest in me and for their support of my candidacy, and wish to say that I shall always treasure as one of the richest possessions of my life their loyal and earnest support.

"Most respectfully yours,
"H. H. CHERRY."

DISTRIBUTION OF BONDS VALUABLE IN FUTURE

Since 20 per cent. of American People
Hold Government Securities and Will Buy More, Their Interest in Government is Intensified.

One of the most hopeful of all the factors in the business and industrial outlook of the United States, is the wide distribution of Liberty Bonds among all classes of the people. This makes for the son of stability that will be very valuable in the coming years. It will also exert a profound influence in the immediate problems of after the war adjustment.

Just now when industrial and financial situations as affected from the change of the country from a war to a peace basis are holding a very important place in the public mind, this factor is being thoughtfully regarded. One reason for the undoubtedly optimistic outlook is the fact that Liberty Bonds are so widely distributed among all classes.

The bond holder who owns Liberty issues has in his possession securities that represent the very best investment in the world. He knows this and he knows that so long that the government stands that his bonds will be worth exactly what they represented themselves to be worth, principal and interest, down to the last cent.

Bondholders Increased.

A few years ago a very small percentage of Americans were bondholders. In fact the bond buying element was represented only by a few thousand people out of our 100,000,000 citizens. It is vastly different now. At the close of the Fourth Loan it was found that about 20 per cent of the population of the United States were bondholders of Liberty Bonds.

Despite the sales made by the holders who were unable to retain their bonds, it is estimated that 18 per cent of the population still retains its bonds and is planning to hold on to them as long as possible. Those owners represent the millions who are interested in sound prosperity, in sound and safe government. It brings the government more near them and gives them an added personal interest in its progress.

To Buy All They Can.

Knowing the securities to be the best in the world, millions of bond holders are planning to buy all they possibly can of the Fifth Loan and they are making their influence strongly felt, even in that class of Americans who were non-buyers in the Fourth, the Third, the Second and the First. This is tending to further distribute the bonds more thoroughly among the more than 100,000,000 Americans.

The French have often been called the thriftest people in the world. When they got together a few francs they straightway put these into government securities. The financial condition of the French government remains amazingly sound through four years of storm and stress and one of the greatest reasons for this soundness was the thrift of the average Frenchman and his willingness, at all times, to buy government bonds.

Americans who are watching the sale of the last of the great war loans issues of the United States will do well to take a leaf from the French man's book.

The peace strength of the army is to be 509,000.

Fried Cakes Every Day.

"Arbor day," said the teacher, "is the day to plant trees. Now, suppose that every member of this class should plant his or her favorite nut tree. Let us see how many varieties of nuts we would have. We will begin at this end of the class." Walnut, beechnut, chestnut, were named in rapid succession, but when it came Mary's turn she wrinkled her brow and thought for a long minute before she answered: "I believe I'd plant a doughnut tree."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Oiling the Wheels.

No one can afford to let another person exceed them in politeness, and there is nothing in the world that will oil the wheels of life like the lubricant of courtesy. Try it in your daily life and see. No one will chide you for not being in good form, even if you should slip in a few obscure terms. For in this busy age each one is an arbiter of fashion oneself. It would be a refreshing thing to introduce a few of the old-fashioned variety of social amenities—at least it would be refreshing to the elders of some of the boys and girls of the period.—Ex-Change.

Discouraged Frenchmen.

A Frenchman complained that he had difficulty in learning English. He said that after he had learned to pronounce "typhoid fever" a doctor pronounced it fatal.

Your Face.

The face of a man or a woman is an unfailing mirror of what is in the heart of that man or that woman. If you will study faces you will study life. The face cannot deceive you if you study it. If the face tries to dissemble you look through it into the heart of a more or less pathetic hypocrite.

LEARNING THRIFT

Five Best Teachers Are Named By
New York Financier Marking
Epoch in this Country's History.

The five best teachers of the average man and woman has had, have been the five Liberty Loans. In the opinion of the President of the American Society of Thrift, S. W. Straus, New York Banker and financier, the five loans will play a big part in the history of American finance as applied to the average American. In a recent interview on the Liberty Loan he said:

"Only one-half the families in the United States were money-savers before the war. Now every family belongs in that class. As a nation and as individuals we must continue the practice of thrift, as it is the only way of repairing the world waste caused by the war.

"The average citizen has discovered that he can save without instantaneously losing 'class' as a good spender. Saving for Liberty Bonds has taught him a genuine lesson. He has found that he gets along very well without this and that luxury, and no only does not miss it, but is better for being without it.

As to how much a man should save before he is called really thrifty, Mr. Straus said:

"He should save something. The amount depends upon the circumstances. One man saving only five per cent of his income might really be more thrifty than a man saving 20 per cent because the first man might have more difficulties with which to contend in his effort to save. The point is that every young man or woman should put aside regularly some portion of his or her income. And there is only one way to start saving. It is to start saving.

Mr. Straus might included another way to start; subscribe for Liberty Bonds (short term notes) of the Fifth Loan, the "Victory" issue and keep paying on them until the bond obligation has been met.

Pride Always Stumbling Block.
Pride brings many into error, and makes them sometimes fall into blindness almost incurable. Let the fall of the proud, thus foolishly presuming on themselves, serve thee for a warning, and keep thee ever humble.—Thomas a Kempis.

No One to Copy.

Charley had twin cousins of his own age. The twins looked much alike and were neat and clean. Charley's mother said to him, "Why, Charley, look how nice your cousins look and how dirty you are!" Whereupon he answered: "Well, mother, they just need to look at each other to see how they look and I have no one to look at to see if I look right."

Equal Right, but No Favor.

"I suppose," said a lady to a conductor, "if I pay the fare for my dog he will be treated the same as other passengers, and be allowed to occupy a seat. 'Of course, madam,' the conductor replied politely, 'he will be treated the same as other passengers, and can occupy a seat, provided he does not put his feet on it!'"

General Welfare.

In present day conduct of affairs, capital is a very necessary thing, and we must think highly of those men who have the ability to use it for the end of human betterment. Labor is a still more necessary thing, and we should apply it ungrudgingly, unselfishly, knowing that everything each one of us does must contribute to the general welfare.—Exchange.

I can help myself now

The children can help themselves to pure, cool drinking water from the automatic, "The Perfect Refrigerator."

The snow white, porcelain-lined water cooler is built in, between the ice chamber, and the food compartment. Takes up no needed or extra space, and your ice gives double service, refrigerating your food and drinking water at the same time.

Not necessary to waste ice for chipping. Besides your doctor will tell you not to put ice in drinking water. Its unsafe.

Extra holder if you use bottled water. This is patented and only found in the Automatic.

This is only ONE of the features of the best and cheapest refrigerator in the world, the famous Automatic. And, it costs no more than the old-method kind. We are demonstrating every day. Welcome to come in and see.

CATES' MILL IS RUNNING AGAIN

Plant Was Destroyed By Lightning
Last Fall, and Was Rebuilt in Seven Months.

The Cate Milling Co. on East Duane street, whose mill was struck by lightning and burned to the ground over seven months ago, has again begun operating. This is almost a record time for such an achievement, for the mill had to be built entirely and the machinery installed. There is still work to be done on the plant before its entire completion, as the elevator must be built, and wheat grinding machinery put in complete working order and the engines and boilers overhauled.

All this, however, Mr. Cate expects to complete entirely before the 1919 wheat crop is ready to be delivered, while the corn grinding department has already been operating smoothly for over a week, and grits, corn meal and hominy are already being placed on the market.

Mr. Cate bought the Peacher's mill machinery, building timbers and all, and with this rebuilt on his old site.

The building is three stories high in addition to a basement; is 330 by 60 feet, and so arranged that the corn and wheat grinding departments are entirely separated.

The plant, when finished, will have a greater capacity, and the machinery and other equipment will be much more complete than the old plant.

Arrangements have also been made to continue the wool carding business and a new office building is being completed.

The charter of the company has been recently changed to the Cate Milling Company instead of the James Cate & Son Company, as it was before.

The officers are J. H. Cate, President; James Cate, Treasurer, and George Cate, Secretary. The directors are J. H. Cate, James Cate, Geo. Cate, J. T. Edmunds, J. H. Adams and G. P. Rives.

Historic Windsor Castle.

King Edward III assessed every county of England to send him a certain number of masons, stone workers and carpenters and thus Windsor castle was built on the ground on which it is related, King Arthur used to sit surrounded by his knights. During the reign of George IV. it was improved and restored by the court architect, Sir Jeffrey Wyatville, and Queen Victoria spent nearly a million pounds in restoring and perfecting it. Windsor is an ideal spot and its castle is surrounded by more than 1,800 acres of park and forest.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

FOE FACES ODDS TWO TO ONE

Central Powers Had 7,630,000 Men

And Allies 16,700,000

War Ended.

The central powers faced odds of greater than two to one in mobilized troops when Germany gave up in the fight last November. The estimated aggregate strength of the enemy powers at that time, according to official estimates made public by Gen. March, chief of staff, was 7,630,000. The indicated aggregate allied strength on the date was more than 16,700,000. The situation is disclosed in the figures received in the war department from France giving the present status of the belligerent armies. They show that the central powers on March first had under arms 1,125,000 while the allied forces aggregated 13,336,000.

"We have received from France some rather interesting figures about the demobilization of the central powers and the demobilization of the entire allied forces to include February. The demobilization has been going on of course, since then but the figures show what has been happening over there. The central powers figures are:

	Estimated Strength	February on Nov. 11. Reduced to
Bulgaria	500,000	129,000
Germany	4,500,000	820,000
Turkey	400,000	70,000
Austria	2,230,000	160,000

"The total force of the central powers on Nov. 11, was estimated as 7,460,000. This has been reduced, including February, to 1,125,000 or to 15 per cent of their strength. On the same day on which this report was made, the strength of the allied forces was 13,366,000, or 75 per cent of the strength which they had on Nov. 11.

Turning to demobilization of the American army, General March said the second anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the world war, found the restoration of American manhood to civil life more than 40 per cent complete. On returns up to April 1, the army had been reduced to an aggregate strength of 2,055,710. For that force General March has set a mark of 310,000 discharges per month toward which progress is being made. Actual discharges up to and including April 5th aggregated 1,624,171 officers and men.

"Every state in the union," General March said, "is now welcoming its returning sons, the finest types of American manhood, clean and virile and deserving the thanks of the American people."

Enlistments under the call for 50,000 volunteers so far reported from the regular enlistment officers total less than 5,000 men.

Makers of Heroes.

Emerson says, "Times of heroism are generally times of terror." They show true character. It seems that human nature needs a test to show the stuff it's made of. Spirits of heroic mold often lie dormant until aroused by a mighty challenge. It seems as though there is some militarism of the soul that waits the life call and the measure of the drum beat. Not fear but lack of occasion keeps the latent might unconscious of itself. But let the need call and the sleeping giant rouses and strides forward to the dismay of petty puppets of annoyance.

Liberty bonds are still from 1 to 7 cents below par.

Money Goes Direct to Sufferers. Every dollar subscribed to the American Jewish War Relief Campaign Fund for the starving Jewish people in Eastern Europe goes direct to the fund. The expenses of the campaign are borne out of a private fund contributed by Jewish philanthropists in addition to large personal subscriptions.

Drive Is Non-Sectarian. Non-Jewish people as well as the Jews are entering heartily into the campaign in Kentucky to raise $208,000, April 7-11, for the starving millions Jewish people in the Eastern European war zones. Those who are not solicited personally are asked to send money to Alfred Brandeis, State Treasurer, 601 Paul Jones Building, Louisville, Ky. Payments can be made now, June 15th or August 1st.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF THE FIRST RAILROAD COMMISSION DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY

JOHN C. DUFFEY

After careful consideration I have decided to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Railroad Commissioner, subject to the Democratic primary election, August 2, 1919, and in so doing it may be well to state my position on some of the leading questions before the public at this time.

I am heartily in favor of the policies of President Wilson among which the League of Nations for the maintenance of the peace of the world is supreme.

The election in this state this fall will be generally regarded as an endorsement of or a repudiation of the administration and policies of President Wilson, and no ticket should be nominated which would prove a handicap in such a contest. The Democratic ticket should be in full accord with the new ideals and new conditions confronting the state and the nation. The men responsible for the things which have made the present administration objectionable to so many people in the state should not be permitted to name the ticket this year or to control it when elected, and notwithstanding the fact that in matters of legislation the present administration or the party, has complied with every promise of consequence to the people of this state. The Democratic voters will have to be convinced that the ticket will be responsible to them alone, and that it will be entirely responsive to the will of the people of the state in the administration of the affairs of the state.

In matters of Government I am in favor of adequate control of all the means of transportation so as to secure the greatest development of the trade and commerce of this state and the nation, and if elected to the office of Railroad Commissioner, I shall endeavor to use all my personal and official influence of the Commission to develop and encourage transportation by rail and river, and to remove unreasonable discriminations against traffic in this state and the South.

and aid and encourage the building of to aid and encourage the building of railroads in the state; restrictive laws as to owning and operating parallel or competing lines should be removed but at the same time adequate control of rates, whether joint or single, should be given the State Railroad Commission over intra-state rates. Everything possible should be done to restore river transportation, especially for heavy classes of freight.

I am in favor of a reduction of the state tax rate, and of amending the tax laws so as to place a larger share of the burdens of taxation on the holders of tangible property and less on real estate.

I am in favor of a better and more permanent system of public roads as the greatest aid to transportation under the new conditions of traffic.

Liberal wages among laboring men of all classes should be continued so as to encourage better living conditions for those who toil; and reasonable prices for all agricultural products should be maintained so as to guarantee continued prosperity and better living conditions among our farmers and make rural life more attractive.

I am in favor of the very best system of education for the development of the manhood and the womanhood of the state, and to this end I believe in the enactment and enforcement of State Wide Amendment against the sale of intoxicating liquors as the most destructive agent of man power in the state.

JOHN C. DUFFEY.

COMING TO AMERICA

Five million Europeans, wearied by the war, but still awake to new points of view by it, are turning their eyes and thoughts to new homes across the sea. If they can find these homes in the United States they will flock here the moment the opportunity is afforded. Otherwise they will remain where they are. Canada, Australia nor South America are not considered for an instant by the great majority. France has her thousands ready to come. Italy has even more and England will be largely represented when a propitious time has come. But it is Germany that has the most numerous and most eager company of those who would be immigrants to this country. These are the expert finding of Frederick C. Howe, commissioner of immigration at New York, who recently returned from service at the peace conference at Paris.

THE PASSION PLAY

The decennial Passion Play at Oberammergau, Bavaria, is due in 1920 but it is hardly possible that the Huns will attempt to represent again the life and death of the Savior Anton Lang, who played the part of Christ in 1900-10 is reported to have been killed in the war, but the report has not been confirmed. A number of Hopkinsville people saw the production nine years ago.

This Bird Can Sew.

The "tailor bird" of India is an excellent seamstress. When this bird decides to build a nest it chooses a leaf that suits its purpose and perforates the edges with its beak. Then it takes a long piece of grass fiber and sews the edges together, making a pocket. If the leaf is not large enough, it is pieced out with another leaf. At the end of the seam the bird makes a knot in the thread to prevent unravelling. This pocket is not the bird's home, however, but only the beginning of it. The nest is made within the pocket. The end of a slender branch is always selected, and as the leaf retains its natural color the home of the bird is concealed very effectively from animals and other enemies of birds.—People's Home Journal.

Judicial Politeness.

Referring to the exaggerated politeness with which the English judge, as contrasted with his brother on the American bench, dissents from the other members of the court, Law Notes quotes from Judge Bowen in Hutton vs. West Cork R. Co. as follows: "I need hardly say with what hesitation I differ from the view of Lord Justice Baggallay and Lord Justice Fry, and I unfeignedly say that I would rather trust their opinion than my own, but unfortunately the law does not allow me to do so."

Has Not Learned Life's Lesson.

A man who has lived and has not grown tolerant toward others does not deserve to meet with tolerance himself.—Turgenev.

Aniline in a Pigment.

To detect the presence of aniline in a pigment a little of the color is laid upon a piece of letter paper, and a drop of spirit poured upon it. If the pigment contains an aniline dye, the paper will be colored right through by it, while a pure pigment will not alter the shade of the paper and will under no circumstances penetrate it.—Popular Science Monthly.

An Assured Future.

"Dubson doesn't seem to worry about the high cost of living." "And for a very good reason. Dubson married an expert stenographer. Any time the wolf comes snooping about his premises he knows friend wife can go out and earn twice the salary he's getting."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
